In the second of the sec matches. Labor day this year will have two real championship contests on the cards—one between Freddy Welsh and Charlie White, over the marathon route, at Colorado Springs, Col., and the other between Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world, and George Chaney of Baltimore, challenger, at Cedar Point, Ohio. In the latter match, however, the boys will go only fitteen rounds, as they could not agree upon a twenty-round battle when it was arranged. All of the above-mentioned boys have been in strict training for the past three weeks, and the dope in each case points to the present title-holders as probable winners. In each case it is a hard hitter against a clever titleholder. Charlie White has proved his ability time and time again to knock out his opponent with a single punch, but the heavy hitters will find it a difficult task to connect inside of the limit specified against such clever opponents.

Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavy-weight, and Carl Morris are billed for a twenty-round contest at Tuisa, Okla, Labor day, but the authorities have interfered and the chances are it will not take place. Another match on the cards is between Jack Dillon and Jim Coffey at Brooklyn, N. Y., but the promoters are fighting as to who is entitled to the match, and another hitch is probable there.

Second money amounted to $2,866, and $1,183 went to the third horse.

There were ten starters, three of them, Rickety, Tumbler and Vivid, being the Whitney entry, while a pair of fillies, Madeira and Burlesque, represented the stable of Gifford A. Cochrane. Campfire was a pronounced public choice at evens, the Whitney triobeing next in favor, with Skeptic strongly supported as the next best in a lively market.

After a delay of four minutes at the post they were sent off for a good start. Campfire, breaking from the outside position, was taken to the middle of the track by McTaggart, when he took the lead and held it to the end. Just once, in the final furions, Campfire's jockey fiashed his whip, and the colt responded gamely, winning going away. Madeira kept pace with the leader half a mile, but fell back at that stage, and Rickety, never far from the respectively.

the club champienship. The title is now held by Richard Beattle, who last year defeated J. Martin Scranage in a close match in the final, and Beattle will again play this year. George T. Cunningham is rather favored by some of his friends to give the champion a good battle this year, as he had prior to his leaving for the military camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., been playing very fine golf. The eighteen-hole qualification round will be held between the 10th and 13th of September and the first round of match play begins Thursday, the 14th. The first sixteen players in the order of their qualification scores will constitute the championship flight and in addition to this division there will be given to the winner and runner-up in each flight. The champion will receive the big cup given for the best golfer of the year. The defaulting dates follow: First round, Beptember 26; second round, September 26; third round, October 1; final round cotober 3. The final round is being played so soon after the third round on account of the probability that the tournament committee will decide to hold the invitation tournament of the club about that date.

In Hahlbloom, Beckner, Hoff, Gessner, Isaacs and Winter the west has a sextet of national masters who could hold their own in the fastest company in the country. These men were practically unknown in the east before this event; certainly they were not rated at anywhere near the strength which they have shown. Hoff defeated Lasker and Whitaker; Hahlbloom beat Showalter, and no student of chess dope would have thought before the event that a master of Lasker's international repu-
